ANOTHER MATTHEWS INTERVIEW.

SPECIAL TO THE STAR.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Senator Matthews, in an interview to-day, says:

"Anderson denies that the paper produced in the Committee yesterday was the original joint agreement, as it is called, which he placed in my hands. I can not, of course, say much about the matter now in view of the investigation the Senate has accorded me, but I will say that if that is not the original paper there never was one. The true solution of Anderson's denial is that there never was such a joint agreement. The one he gave me was a forgery of Mr. Weber's name. Weber never signed it nor any other. Anderson is evidently startled by finding that we are able to show that that is not Weber's signature. I think, too, that Mr. Anderson supposed I would destroy those papers. He made and kept copies of them before he gave them to me, thinking I would destroy his. I had, and then he would produce his; but he has been disappointed."

STARTLING DEVELOPMENTS TO COME.

The next sensation the Potter Committee expects to give to the country will be the publication of Ex-Congressman Darrell's letter to Anderson.

These letters, it is said, give a complete history of the alleged frauds committed in Louisiana. Darrell became disenchanted with some of the Republican managers soon after the inauguration, and in his correspondence with Anderson he talked plainly of matters. A member of the Potter Committee says the developments already made are as nothing compared to what is to come within a few days.

WHAT GOVERNOR HENDRICKS THINKS OF IT.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 6.—Governor Hendricks in an interview yesterday said: I have regarded the Presidential question settled, and have not been in favor of any investigation or other proceedings with a view to disturbing it. The investigation that is now going on by Mr. Potter's Committee has become a very important one. I think it should be prosecuted until the parties connected with the fraud and crime shall be ascertained and exposed, but not with any view of disturbing Mr. Hayes. I have not been in correspondence with Mr. Tilden, nor with any person whatever, in regard to this matter.

THE POTTER COMMITTEE AT WORK.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The Potter Investigating Committee met at 11:45 o'clock a. m. The Chairman asked Mr. Cox whether he had obtained any further letters from Mr. Matthews.

Mr. Cox replied that he had, and submitted a number of letters and telegrams from Anderson to Matthews. Some of these letters have been substantially published, and all of them, as well as telegrams, refer to the negotiations going on between Anderson and the Senator in regard to the procurement of a government position for the former.

After they had all been read Gen. Butler submitted the following, which was adopted: "That the Hon. Stanley Matthews be invited to appear before the Committee at his convenience to make such explanation in regard to the letters just read from Anderson to himself, as well as to others produced before the Committee, as he may deem proper, and to answer such questions as may be asked pertaining to the subject under investigation."

Judge A. B. Levissee, formerly of Louisiana, now a practicing attorney in this city, was next examined, and testified that he was an elector on the Hayes ticket, and that S. M. Asher, of Shreveport, told him he could make one hundred thousand dollars if he would cast his vote for Tilden. C. M. Johnston first called to see him and made the appointment for an interview between him and Asher.

Levissee detailed a conversation between himself and Asher, whom he met at Cassidy's Hotel, and by whom he was taken to a remote part of the town. There had been some question as to witness' eligibility as an elector and asked him if he would accept $30,000 or $40,000 for refusing to accept his certificate as an elector.

Levissee next related a strong interview with Asher, at which the latter asked him to cast his vote direct for Mr. Tilden. The witness answered that this was something entirely different and required consideration. He said to Asher that it was hardly worth while to go any further until he knew who the man was that had the money. Asher replied that his name was Walter Pugh and that he would go to the hotel to see him.

Some one has sent the Sherbrooke (Que.) Gazette a relic plowed up by Mr. Jerome Rolfe on his own farm, near St. Francis River, in the township of Eaton. It appears to be an old-fashioned bayonet, such as it was necessary to unscrew before firing. The letters "Domingo" are plainly visible along one side of the blade. Stamped on each side, however, is a fleur de lis, the emblem of France. The weapon is rust-eaten, and may very well have been in the ground since the disastrous retreat of Colonel Roger and his New Englanders along the St. Francis in the olden times.

JUDGE HILTON.

He Talks Back to the Women.

National Associated Press to the Star.

NEW YORK, June 6.—In reference to the letter which Mrs. Dr. Lozier says Judge Hilton wrote to a young lady at the Cooper Union School of Design, wherein it is alleged he said the price of board at the Woman's Hotel would not exceed $4 per week, the Judge says:

"It's all bosh. Not a word of truth in the assertion. There is no such letter in existence. If these women had such a letter, don't you think they would have been only too glad to read and publish it. I wonder at newspapers giving such an amount of publicity to the vile slanders of these female creatures, some of whom would not be allowed to enter the door of any respectable house. Such talk as they indulge in is all nonsense. Stewart's intentions have been carried out to the letter by Mrs. Stewart and her niece. He never intended that women should sit at these tables who were earning less than the servants who waited upon them. He never designed, when he planned that magnificent finished building, with its elaborate appointments, costly furniture and marble floors, that it should be tenanted by scrub women. Why, some of these females were not satisfied unless they could have men call upon them in their rooms, a state of things you know that could not be tolerated. Again, others of these women who are loudest in their denunciations of myself, evince habits of a very offensive character while stopping there, and frequent complaints were made. The respectable inmates who took board at the hotel were well pleased with the treatment they received, and even proposed to hold a meeting and adopt a memorial of thanks to Mrs. Stewart and myself, but when their intentions were made known to me by the manager I forbade it. The rules of that house were the same as of any first-class hotel. It was not too much to say that people should have the gas put out at half-past 11 o'clock; that the doors of the reception rooms were not to be closed while men were being entertained in them. Why, one of these complaining women actually wanted to entertain male visitors in her room, and when that could not be done she wanted the doors of the reception room closed when men visited her there."

Mennonites for Kansas.

The steamer Winland, Capt. Heibich, nine days from Havre, arrived at night, and the vessel remained at quarantine all night, as no boat is allowed to come up the bay after sundown. There were on board a larger number of passengers than usual, nine hundred and sixty in all, sixty-two of whom were Cuban passengers, and eight hundred and ninety-eight steerage. Of the latter over eight hundred were Mennonites. All the passengers were vaccinated. These Mennonites will leave to-day for a colony in Kansas.

More Mormons.

The steamer Nevada, which arrived yesterday, had three hundred and forty-one Mormons aboard, who spent the night in Castle Garden. They are accompanied by two elders, who have spent two years in Great Britain, Sweden, Denmark and Germany securing converts. Six hundred Mormons will arrive in about a month, mostly from Sweden.

Mrs. Tilton's Committee.

Mrs. Tilton has been asked to appear before the Plymouth Church Examining Committee next Monday evening and present her defense, if she intends making any. The Committee will meet with closed doors in the church parlors. It is hardly considered probable that any defense will be made, although she has a right to demand a trial by the Church.

A Novel Suit.

A novel suit is to be argued on a demurrer before Justice Reynolds to-morrow. The plaintiff is Ann Malloy, an aged washerwoman, who sues St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church for $10,000 damages for injuries received on January 7th, 1877, from a fall on the ice on the steps of the church.

Colgate's Soap Factory Destroyed.

National Associated Press to the Star.

JERSEY CITY, June 6.—At 6 o'clock this morning a fire was discovered in the extensive soap manufactory of Colgate & Co., occupying the principal portion of the block bounded by York, Hudson, Grand and Greene streets. The fire broke out in the main building, in the center of the block, the lower part being used for boiling, and owing to the inflammable contents the flames spread rapidly. A few minutes after the fire broke out the explosion of chemicals took place, blowing out the rear wall. The two main buildings and chemical house, with valuable machinery and a large stock, are entirely destroyed. The immense walls fell at 8 o'clock. Loss estimated at $300,000. The origin of the fire was not ascertained. Over three hundred persons are thrown out of employment.

BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

The Board met in regular session, all the members present and President Bell in the chair.

The weekly pay-roll of the Water-works amounting to $3,781 65, was ordered paid.

The proposition of the village of Clifton to straddle the avenues of Burnet Woods Park was rejected.

The Clerk was directed to transmit to Council the ordinance to repeal grades of certain streets in Kemper's subdivision with the annexed statement of the Engineer; also, a resolution transferring to Mr. James Gordon the lease of water power of one run of stone, Lock No. 3.

FLOODS.

Wm. Cary, John Battel and John Appohn, who live at 409 John street, and Pat. Sullivan, who hangs out on Water street, were locked up at Hammond-street Station to-day on suspicion.

The prosecuting witness against them is a lad of seventeen years named Phil. Frederick, who arrived here this morning on the steamer Bonanza. He hired Cary to take him to the Plum-street Depot for $1.

On the way the lad alleges that he pulled out a pocket-book containing $41, and that Cary knocked him down, grabbed the money and skipped off with his wagon.

The boy stood on the sidewalk crying when Sullivan came up, asked him what was the matter, and on being told gave him $5 to hush up.

The officers were notified and the men arrested. Frederick identified Cary as the man who robbed him.

They Want Thirty Thousand.

The members of the Board of Public Works, in company with City Auditor St. Hoffman, made their appearance before the County Commissioners to-day for the purpose of attempting to have them issue a warrant for $30,000.

These $30,000, the Board claims, was loaned by them to the city four years ago for the purpose of straightening Millerick. Not getting their money back at the time, the Board proceeded to Columbus and had a bill passed to the effect that the Commissioners should order a levy on the public for that amount.

The Commissioners refused to take any action on the matter to-day and postponed it until their meeting to-morrow.

The Board at that time will also make their annual tax levy.

Superintendent Kirton Discharged.

At the meeting of the Board of Public Works this morning a resolution was submitted by President Bell, asking that the services of Wm. Kirton, Superintendent of the Water-works, be dispensed with, and the Board proceed to elect a hydraulic engineer to fill his place.

This called forth a warm discussion between the Republican and Democratic members of the Board, during which some very personal remarks were made.

Before the resolution was adopted, however, a second resolution, stating that the services of Mr. Kirton had met with the approval of the Board, was passed. Messrs. Foote, Baker and Caldwell voting for the bill.

A vote was then taken on Mr. Bell's resolution, which was carried. Messrs. Bell, Foote and Gessert voting yes, and next Tuesday was set as the day when a new Superintendent should be elected.

A Midnight Scene.

Between 12 and 1 o'clock this morning two men came out of Schumann's saloon, on Vine street, accompanied with two young girls and hired the driver of hack No. 41 to take them home; but after they had started the men whispered to the hackman to drive them to some lonely place.

Without asking any questions, the hackman proceeded to a brickyard, between Western avenue and Millcreek and York and Findlay streets.

There the hack broke down, and the driver stated that the passengers jumped out and disappeared, and that he knows nothing more of the affair.

At 1 o'clock this morning Officers Fritz and Pettit passed the place and found the hack with the front spring broken, and also a blue ribbon and some hairpins on the ground.

The footprints of the girls and men were plainly visible and the ground had the appearance as if a struggle had taken place. Nothing more is at present known.

The Hammill-Grooms Case.

Our readers will remember the above-named case, which recently created such a sensation here. The facts were that Ada Hammill, daughter of the well-known artist, was on intimate terms with a young man named James B. Grooms, that the couple were engaged, but could not obtain the consent of the girl's parents to their union. The girl had criminal intercourse with Grooms, who also induced her to steal a box containing a large amount of money belonging to her father.

The two then eloped and went to Lexington, Ky., where she was abandoned by Grooms, and through want of the necessary means to sustain life, was compelled to enter a house of prostitution. She was soon after found, however, by her parents, who had Grooms arrested on a charge of bastardy.

The case was taken up before the Court of Common Pleas.

This morning, on motion of Judge A. J. Pruden, on part of the plaintiff and with consent of the defendant, Judge Longworth ordered the suit to be dismissed at the plaintiff's costs, and the papers withdrawn from the files in Court.

By this course a lot of madness will be saved from the public eye.

HARRISON HORROR.

Additional Particulars in the Case.

Marshall Bound Over to the Grand Jury.

The members of the Faculty of the Ohio Medical College were before the Grand Jury last evening, and from various sources of information the following was learned as to what manner John Scott Harrison's body came into that institution.

They testified that they and the faculties of other colleges throughout the country have contracts with certain persons to supply them with cadavers for dissection and anatomical demonstration.

It is part of the contract with the resurrectionists that they shall not molest private burying-grounds, or the bodies of those whose surviving friends' feelings would be shocked and outraged by the discovery that the graves had been rifled. The Faculty are not able to determine whether the bodies supplied to them are taken from public or private grounds, but they deplore any invasion of the former for the important reason, if no other, that it increases the difficulties and the cost of obtaining subjects for the dissecting table. If the resurrectionists violate their contracts in this particular, and disregard the advice of the Faculty, they do it at their own peril, and will not be shielded, if discovered, by the Faculty.

It is also a part of the contract with the resurrectionists, at least in the case of the Ohio Medical College, that they shall not only place the cadaver in the dissecting room, but shave the face, if there be a beard, cut the hair and inject the arteries and veins with the substance used in preserving the body.

In the case of Mr. Harrison, at the time the body was taken to the dissecting room, none of the members of the Faculty were in the building, or aware that it had been placed there.

The Faculty is not positive who the resurrectionist was, as there are several employed by them to furnish "subjects."

They also deny that they made any attempt to conceal the body. As to Harrison's body being found in the "dead shaft," there is nothing new about it all but as left nothing there, previous to being brought to the dissecting room.

The Harrison brothers state that in their search for Devins' body, at the Miami Medical College, on Twelfth street, they had been furnished with every facility for doing so, by the faculty of the College. They return their thanks to them for their assistance, which they failed to recognize in their treatment by most of the Professors of the Ohio Medical College.

Another mysterious affair connected with this College occurred at midnight last night. The firemen on duty at the City Engine-house heard the noise of a wagon in the alley running in the rear of the College. They rushed out and found that the wagon had been stopping in front of the "chute" in which Harrison's body had been thrown. Some of the men followed it up Back street and observed lying in the bed of the wagon something in the form of a human body covered with blankets. There were also a number of muskets seen in the wagon. What they were intended for no one except the three men in the wagon and perhaps the Faculty of the College know.

A large and interested crowd gathered in Square Wright's office this morning to learn what disposition was to be made of A. Q. Marshall, the junior of the Ohio Medical College, who was arrested at the instigation of General Harrison for being connected with the robbery of his father's grave.

Mr. Logan represented the defendant and stated that it was an open secret that the matter was before the Grand Jury, and that the Faculty had been arraigned before that tribunal. That out of respect for the Grand Jury the Faculty had substituted in silence to
